

Stacey Currie

Businesswoman, Author, Ambassador & Keynote Speaker

Stacey's powerful lived experiences empower individuals to unlock their full potential, inspiring them to take action toward achieving their goals and dreams.

Her inspiring journey from adversity to empowerment began in housing commission accommodation with an absent mother, where she faced unimaginable challenges such as child sexual assault. At just 14, she was living in a shed, and by 15, she was pregnant with her first child. By 19, she had two children and was homeless. At the age of 21, Stacey faced a difficult ultimatum from the authorities: change her life or risk losing her children. At just 22 years old, she found herself raising three children on her own after surviving domestic abuse.

Through sheer grit and determination, Stacey's resilience never wavered, she persevered and made courageous decisions that transformed her life against all odds.

Stacey's no-nonsense style and sense of humor have helped her defy the odds and not only survive but thrive. Drawing on her lived experience and street-smart wisdom, Stacey has empowered countless individuals to achieve their own success.

As the co-founder of a million-dollar printing business, her tenacity and commitment have earned her nominations for several business awards.

Stacey's reputation as a qualified leadership coach, author, and mentor precedes her, celebrated for her unwavering commitment to rawness, honesty, and compassion.

However, it is as an inspirational speaker that Stacey is best known. Stacey's electrifying keynote speeches have made her one of the most sought-after inspirational speakers in Australia. For the past five years, she has inspired and moved audiences of all kinds with her powerful messages of courageous decision-making, self-belief, and resilience. Whether addressing a room full of executives or a group of young people, Stacey's down-to-earth, relatable style and sharp sense of humor never fail to connect with her listeners. Despite her impressive success, the self-described "rough-around-the-edges chick" remains humble and amazed by the diversity of people she has had the privilege of meeting and motivating, from those struggling to make ends meet to the most affluent and influential members of society.

Sharing the stage with some of the world's most renowned thought leaders, she has appeared on numerous TV shows, including the Today Show, 7.30 Report, and 60 Minutes, where she has shared her inspiring life story and insights on leadership, resilience, and personal growth. Her wisdom and experience have also been featured in some of Australia's most prestigious newspapers and magazines, such as BRW, The Age, and The Herald Sun.

Stacey Curries talks about:

- Ditch unhealthy habits and move into the unknown, even if it feels really uncomfortable (which it will!)
- Realise we have choices in everything we do - the trick is to become obsessed with the choices we choose
- Unleash the courage to take action - even when you're scared of the unknown
- Quieten the voice that says you're not good enough, worthy enough or smart enough to change
- That no matter what you do in life, people will have an opinion of you, so you may as well do what the heck makes you feel happy
- How to overcome your fear paralysis and make decisions on your terms

Client testimonials

“ Knowing a little of Stacey's background and personal story, I would highly recommend her to any company wanting a keynote speaker or workshop presenter. Stacey is not only relate-able and will touch the heart of employees at every level from the workshop floor to executive management, she will also provide valuable knowledge and insights on business systems, passion and goal setting that will create greater productivity and profits.
