

Nick Bartlett

Energetic MC and Facilitator

Nick Bartlett is a professional MC and facilitator working across Australia and overseas.

He's Zumba'd with Dame Edna, cycled with Cadel Evans, made 10,000 friends at the Colour Run and hosted everything from conferences to awards nights to product launches for some of Australia's biggest brands.

As versatile as he is engaging, Nick tailors his style to the demands of each event; implementing the right tone, delivery and humour.

Nick rigorously researches every client and adds a personalised touch to each event, writing his own notes and introductions for guests.

His greatest skill however, is his ability to improvise. With his sharp quick wit, Nick brings the audience together through humour, and uses it effectively to create a vibrant group dynamic. This provides the perfect climate for entertainment and learning alike.

Having interviewed sports stars, celebrities, CEOs and thought leaders in various fields, Nick is also a great facilitator. He works to ensure every guest feels comfortable, resulting in captivating interviews.

From an intimate high end launches to multi-day conferences and sporting events, he is no stranger to crowds both great and small.

Nick provides a refreshing structure for your next event.

Testimonials

“ I have worked with many MC's but Nick is by far the most charismatic, engaging and fun MC I have watched on stage. He is well versed, knows how to improvise on the spot but also took the time to get to know the Schnitz community and those involved in the event. Personal and professional, Nick was reliable and made the tricky logistics look planned and seamless. A wonderful entertainment and all round nice guy!

“ Nick was instrumental in the delivery of 3 highly successful events. Through Nick’s lead, the format of the events was improved to an interactive and relaxed Q&A session rather than a dry presentation, and the guests loved the energy and humour that Nick provided. Personally, I gained confidence with Nick’s support & input. I had a lot of fun working with him.

Nick is funny, cheeky and creative - he was the perfect fit for our event, and I’d absolutely have him back for future events.
