

Cherylee Harris

Media/PR and MC

Cherylee Harris has lived most of her professional life in front of an audience. From the age of six she was modelling, as a teenager she graced the catwalks of all the major department stores and in later years she celebrated a win as Miss Beach Girl South Australia. Her charisma and likability saw Cherylee carve out a successful career in television spanning more than 20 years.

Not fazed by the pressures of live TV, she took on major roles including Channel Seven weather presenter and host of live-to-air morning programs such as Adelaide Today, AM Adelaide and 13 years presenting SA Discover.

Guest speaking, hosting and emcee work followed and Cherylee has gone on to become one of the State's most in-demand and engaging performers. She is well known, well liked and well connected.

Taking to the stage with then-Prime Minister Kevin Rudd for the Australia Day celebrations at the Adelaide Convention Centre in front of thousands of corporate identities was a particular career highlight.

Cherylee has also attained marketing and business qualifications, including an MBA, adding further substance and credibility to her brand. But perhaps this affable presenter's greatest asset is her genuine warmth and love of people. Cherylee is driven by the stories of others and it's no coincidence that this quality has shaped her into a professional host who brings insight, understanding, humour and integrity to the table.

Cherylee Harris talks about:

Client testimonials

“ We attended the Australian Teleservices Association (ATA) Awards Dinner on the Friday night after your presentation and I was able to utilise all of the skills that you taught us. I met so many new people and exchanged many business cards and I would not have been able to do it as successfully as I did without your help, so thank you very much.

- Select Telereources

“ I just wish to follow up on our event last night and thank you so much for your enlightening, relevant, professional and motivational presentation. The feedback we received was all extremely positive so I thank you once again for your fantastic contribution to the evening.

- REISA (Real Estate Institute of South Australia)

VIEW SPEAKER'S BIO ONLINE 