

Mick Molloy

Comedian, Actor, Singer & Producer

Mick Molloy is one of Australia's most recognised comedians. An actor, writer and producer, Mick combines the scruffy appeal of a laid back larrikin and the acid tongue of the world's toughest critic. This combination has proved successful both in terms of Mick's significant box office appeal as a writer/performer and in relation to the accolades he has received within the industry.

Mick was nominated, alongside his brother Richard, for Best Original Screenplay at the 2002 Australian Film Institute (AFI) Awards for the feature film Crackerjack. In 2003 Mick received extraordinary recognition for his work in Australian film: being named Australian Star of the Year at the 2003 Australian Movie Convention for his acting performances in the films Crackerjack and Bad Eggs.

Mick co-wrote, produced and starred in the feature film BoyTown, released in 2006, and also produced and directed the feature length documentary Tackle Happy in 2000. Most recently, Mick has been seen behind the news desk in his topical comedy series The Nation, which aired for a thirteen-week season on the Nine network in mid 2007.

Mick also co-presented weekly sports programme Any Given Sunday in 2006, alongside ex-swimmer Nicole Livingstone. In 2004 Mick appeared in The Murray Whelan Films: Stiff and The Brush Off for the Seven Network. In 2003 and 2004 he made special guest appearances in Kath & Kim. He was a regular guest panelist on The Panel for the life of the programme and in 1999 he wrote, produced and presented his own television show on the Nine network entitled The Mick Molloy Show.

In addition to his work in film and television, Mick is one of Australia's most accomplished radio performers. His programme ToughLove was broadcast to a national audience via the Austereo network from 2004-2006.

Prior to this, Mick hosted the national phenomenon that was the radio program Martin/Molloy. Aired on 54 stations throughout Australia from 1995-1998, Martin/Molloy is still one of the most successful programs ever to be broadcast in Australia, and it revolutionised the importance of the drive time slot in Australian radio.

Mick also has a strong history of production in Australian television. As a member of The D-

Generation he was an integral part of the highly successful television series of the same name in 1992/93. He went on to write and perform for The Late Show on ABC television in 1993/94, in which he directed many of his own segments.

Client testimonials

“ Mick was fabulous! I never imagined Lawn Bowls could be so entertaining! As our roving MC he was brilliant and exceeded our expectations. Hilariously funny and made the event a huge success.

- Savi World Transport Pty Ltd

“ Professional, hilarious, fun, energetic and we always get much more than we bargained for - he over delivers in every sense of the word. I have nothing but great things to say about Mick.
