

Geraldine Hickey

Comedian and popular Radio co-host

Geraldine Hickey is a talented Australian comedian, winner of the Melbourne Comedy Festival Award for Most Outstanding Show 2021. Geraldine is also known for her work as co-host of the Breakfasters program on Melbourne community radio station 3RRR.

More about Geraldine Hickey:

Geraldine has a deceptively effortless knack for turning low-key yarns about agapanthus and bouncy-castles into high-stakes, helplessly funny narrative rollercoasters and has culminated in her Most Outstanding Show award at the 2021 Melbourne Comedy Festival for What A Surprise.

Since 2016 Geraldine has also been a co-host on the much-revered breakfast radio show Breakfasters on RRR, and has made multiple appearances on ABC, Triple M and the Hit Network.

A firm favourite of and in the Australian comedy scene, Geraldine's 2019 show Things Are Going Well also received a nomination for the Melbourne Comedy Festival Award for most outstanding show, while she also took home the coveted comedians' choice Piece of Wood Award. Things Are Going Well is available as a podcast special on your ABC.

Geraldine has appeared on The Project, Tonightly with Tom Ballard, Have You Been Paying Attention? and Hughesy, We Have a Problem. Geraldine also stars as Dr Stephanie Huddleston in 8 part comedy series Metro Sexual on the Nine Network, which will film again later this year.
