

Emily Rice

Journalist, Presenter & MC

Emily's understanding of news and current affairs is exemplary. She also has the rare ability to distil and communicate complex information.

Her presence and personable presentation style has been honed over more than 20-years of television presenting.

Emily was appointed to a metropolitan newspaper editorial role at age 22 so she learned the cut and thrust of a dynamic environment from the start of her career.

It served her well as she navigated the challenges of tight deadlines, international assignments and the pressure of live television.

Her experience is evident in the often unpredictable role of MC and moderator.

Emily is renowned for her preparation, adaptability to last minute changes and dedication to ensuring events run efficiently.

Emily has a warm demeanour which puts the audience at ease while also commanding their attention.

Her motto is "prepare thoroughly, listen attentively and keep things moving."

Client testimonials

“ The Melbourne Press Club was pleased to have welcomed Emily Rice to moderate our Health Literacy Panel. Emily's depth of knowledge in this field provided an excellent backdrop for a robust conversation. She guided conversation with aplomb, thank you.

- Chief Executive Officer

“ Emily is professional, but at the same time has a touch of humour and spontaneity, which is vital for large gatherings. The feedback from our attendees has always been positive, and that is why we ask her back time and time again.
